"My Office Manager was missing a lot of work due to severe depression and anxiety for which she did not want to take medication. After four solid weeks of using the Alpha-Stim for depression and anxiety, she is happier, calm, and quite serene. She is even handling high stress aspects of her job much more effectively than I've ever seen her do before.

I am very pleased with the performance of the Alpha-Stim in relation to my Office Manager's depression and anxiety. Because of her success, I'm using the Alpha-Stim on my clients that experience depression and anxiety as well as insomnia. These clients notice a marked difference after just one session.

I am also excited about using this product for those patients of mine that have pain. With the excellent results I've seen for anxiety, depression and insomnia, I'm expecting the same when I use it for pain."
